BOARD OF REGISTRATION IN MEDICINE,
STATE HOUSE, Dec. 31, 1901.

To His Excellency W. MURRAY CRANE, Governor.

SIR:— The number of persons applying for registration this year is 342, of whom 303 have passed satisfactory examinations and have been registered. The number of applicants on the rejected lists of this and previous years who have been re-examined this year is 101, of whom 35 have been registered. The whole number registered this year is 338. The result of the several examinations is shown in tabular form as follows:—

	Examined.	Registered.	Rejected.	Percentage rejected.
March examination,	94	61	33	35
May examination,	41	31	10	24
July examination,	177	145	32	18
September examination,	41	36	5	12
November examination,	89	65	24	27
Totals,	442	338	104	23

The following tabulated data apply to first examinations only, the results of re-examinations being omitted:—

From the tabulation above it appears that 152 of the applicants examined graduated from the medical schools in this Commonwealth, 6 per cent. of whom failed to secure registration; 150 graduated from other schools, of whom 16 per cent. failed. In the annual report for the year 1898 it was shown that 12 per cent. of the graduates of the medical schools in this Commonwealth failed, and 20 per cent. of those who had graduated from other schools. The examinations as now conducted are even more strict and extended than three years ago, when the per cent. of rejected applicants was much larger than this year. These facts clearly indicate that the medical schools, especially those in New England, from which a majority of our applicants come, have risen to a higher plane of educational work. It is gratifying to note that the graduates from these, so to speak, home schools of medicine, come before the Board from year to year better and better equipped to serve the community as physicians and protectors of the public health.

The regular meetings for the examination of applicants open on the second Tuesday and Wednesday in March, July and November, beginning at 9.30 A.M. Special examinations are held on the same days and hour in May and September.

The examinations are conducted in writing, in the English language, and are intended to be "sufficiently thorough to test the applicant's fitness to practise medicine." In each of the examinations held this year fifty questions divided into sets of ten have been given, and two hours allowed in which to answer each set. The applicant is required to designate his papers not by his signature, but by the number given to his application when filed. This requirement insures an incognito rating of his entire examination work.

When the general average of the ratings given the several sets of papers of an applicant by the individual examiners is below 70 per cent., his examination is regarded unsatisfactory. If, however, one's general average is found to be near the minimum requirement, his papers are reviewed by the Board in general session, and his ratings fixed by a consensus of opinion.

Applications for an examination must be filed at least five days before the examination date, and must be made upon blanks furnished by the Board, signed and sworn to by the applicant, and must be accompanied by the required fee, which is twenty dollars. Certificates of registration in other States or diplomas of graduation from medical colleges do not exempt from examination. Upon this point the law is mandatory, — that all must be examined.

A person refused registration by reason of failure to pass a satisfactory examination is entitled to two re-examinations within one year after his first failure, without filing a new application or paying an additional fee.

Since the organization of this department, in July, 1894, the Board has issued 6,428 certificates of registration. Of this number, 3,792 were issued prior to January, 1895, during the six months next following the organization of the Board, to practitioners residing in this Commonwealth at the time the registration act became in part operative. These practitioners were registered in two classes, designated in the annual reports of the Board as Class A and Class B. Class A included graduates of medical institutions authorized by law to confer degrees in medicine, who were residing or practising in the Commonwealth at the time of the passage of the law; Class B included non-graduate practitioners who had practised medicine in the Commonwealth continuously during the three years next prior to the passage of the law. There were 3,443 names enrolled in Class A and 349 in Class B. There were 608 persons refused registration during the six months above referred to, they being unable to meet the requirements of the law as to graduation or three years of continuous practice.

The work of registration under written examinations, conducted by the Board as required by law, began with the year 1895. Since that time the Board has given 3,390 individual examinations and has issued 2,636 certificates of registration, — an annual average of 376. The number of unsatisfactory examinations is 754, — an annual average of 109.

The number of registered physicians now in active practice in the Commonwealth is approximately 4,500, — an average of 1 to every 625 inhabitants.

In the examination in November, the last held, the questions submitted were the following:—

State location and weight of the liver in the adult. Describe its surfaces and borders.

Give the locations of the ganglia of the sympathetic nerve.

Give the anatomy of arteries and veins. How are the coats of arteries affected by ligation?

Describe approved methods of treating simple fracture of the femur in a child five or seven years old.

Write a formula for preparing in a patient's home a quart of normal salt solution for an emergency case, and state methods of administration.

Name the articulations of the following: tibia, radius and scapula.

Without instrumental aid, differentiate vesical calculus and tumor of the bladder.

Differentiate dislocation of head of humerus downward and fracture of surgical neck of the bone. State treatment for the latter.

Give diagnosis and treatment of fracture of the olecranon.

Describe the large intestine, and state its anatomical relations.

State normal rate of respiration and pulse, and degree of temperature in the adult; also the influence of sex on the same. State the significance of a high pulse rate with normal respiration and temperature.

State the physiologic effects of hot and cold baths. State conditions contraindicating sea bathing.

Mention as many as you can of the known elements which enter into the composition of animal tissues, and name the four most important.

What diseases or deformities are incident to school life, and how may they be prevented other than by exclusion from school?

Discuss blood in man, — its composition, temperature, reaction, weight in proportion to the entire weight of the body, and uses.

Of what value is alcohol as a food, as a stimulant, and as an anæsthetic, and what are its effects on the temperature of the body?

Give an account of the structure and functions of the medulla oblongata.

Describe periosteum, — its structure and function.

How does compact bone differ from spongy bone in structure and function?

What are the provisions in nature for purifying the air and replenishing it with oxygen?

Differentiate iritis and conjunctivitis, and give the distinctive treatments.

Name the organs of the thoracic cavity, and state anatomical relations.

Define the term food. Classify food-stuffs, and state how they are affected by the secretions of the stomach.

Define Addison's disease. Give symptoms, duration and prognosis.

Differentiate croupous and catarrhal pneumonia, and give clinical history of each.

Give symptoms and treatment of carbolic acid poisoning.

State how typhoid fever may become epidemic, and the methods which should be adopted to limit its dissemination.

Give symptoms, diagnosis and treatment of pericarditis.

Describe herpes zoster, and give treatment.

Write three formulas for nutritive enemata.

What symptoms and conditions in the pregnant woman would lead you to fear eclampsia?

State causes of sterility in woman, and treatment to promote fertility.

What is tubal pregnancy? How diagnosed? Treatment.

Define hysterectomy, and state how it may be performed. State reasons for the method you consider preferable.

Name the expulsive and resistant forces of normal labor.

What care should a physician give the mother during the first ten days following confinement? What the infant?

Give pathology and treatment of inversion of the uterus.

A woman pregnant seven or eight months has attacks of bloody vaginal discharges, sometimes preceded by pain; the flow may be scanty in first, but increases in later attacks. Diagnosis and treatment.

The amniotic sac has ruptured, and a hand presents. How can you diagnose the position of the child?

State in detail the means you would use to promote the secretion of milk in a nursing woman.

State, from a pathological stand-point, the difference between traumatic and idiopathic apoplexy.

What may excess of uric acid in urine signify?

What conditions outside of the heart may cause heart hypertrophy?

Define thrombus; state causes of formation, and local and remote effects.

In what organs does amyloid degeneration occur most frequently?
Differentiate opium poisoning (patient comatose) and cerebral hæmorrhage.

What pathological changes take place in chronic bronchitis?

Give etiology of angina pectoris.

A patient has dropsical effusion in the abdomen and legs. State causative conditions.

A patient has chronic parenchymatous nephritis. Describe his urine.

APPENDICES.

APPENDIX A.

LAW RELATING TO THE REGISTRATION OF PHYSICIANS.

[REVISED LAWS, CHAPTER 76, SECTIONS 1-9.]

SECTION 1. There shall be a board of registration in medicine consisting of seven persons, residents of this commonwealth, who shall be graduates of a legally chartered medical college or university having the power to confer degrees in medicine, and who shall have been for ten years actively employed in the practice of their profession. No member of said board shall belong to the faculty of any medical college or university, and no more than three members thereof shall at one time be members of any one chartered state medical society. One member thereof shall annually in June be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, for a term of seven years from the first day of July following.

SECTION 2. Said board shall hold regular meetings on the second Tuesday of March, July and November in each year, and additional meetings at such times and places as it may determine. At the regular meeting in July, it shall organize by the choice of a chairman and secretary who shall hold their offices for the term of one year. The secretary shall give a bond to the treasurer and receiver general in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, with sufficient sureties to be approved by the governor and council, for the faithful performance of his official duties.

SECTION 3. Applications for registration shall be made upon blanks to be furnished by the board, and shall be signed and sworn to by the applicants. Each applicant for registration shall furnish satisfactory proof that he is twenty-one years of age or over and of good moral character and, upon payment of a fee of twenty dollars, shall be examined by said board. If he is found by four or more members thereof to be twenty-one years of age or over, of good moral character and qualified, he shall be registered as a qualified physician and shall receive a certificate thereof signed by the chairman and secretary. An applicant who fails to pass an examination satisfactory to the board, and is therefore refused registration, shall be entitled within one year after such refusal to a re-examination at a meeting of the board called for the examination of applicants, without the payment of an additional fee; but two such re-examinations shall exhaust his privilege under his original application. Said board, after hearing, may by unanimous vote revoke any certificate issued by it and cancel the registration of any physician who has been convicted of a felony or of any crime in the practice of his profession. All fees received by the board shall, once in each month, be paid by its secretary into the treasury of the commonwealth.

SECTION 4. Each member of the board shall receive ten dollars for every day actually spent in the performance of his duties, and the necessary travelling expenses actually expended in attending the meetings of the board, not exceeding three cents a mile each way. Such compensation and the incidental and travelling expenses shall be approved by the board and paid by the commonwealth only from the fees paid over by the board.

SECTION 5. The board shall keep a record of the names of all persons registered hereunder, and of all money received and disbursed by it, and a duplicate thereof shall be open to inspection in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth. Said board shall annually, on or before the first day of January, make a report to the governor of the condition of medicine and surgery in this commonwealth, of all its official acts during the preceding year and of its receipts and disbursements.

SECTION 6. The board shall investigate all complaints of the violation of the provisions of section eight, and report the same to the proper prosecuting officers.

SECTION 7. Examinations shall be wholly or in part in writing in the English language, and shall be of a scientific and practical character. They shall include the subjects of anatomy, surgery, physiology, pathology, obstetrics, gynecology, practice of medicine and hygiene, and shall be sufficiently thorough to test the applicant's fitness to practise medicine.

SECTION 8. Whoever, not being lawfully authorized to practise medicine within this commonwealth and registered as aforesaid, holds himself out as a practitioner of medicine, or practises or attempts to practise medicine in any of its branches, or whoever practises medicine or surgery under a false or assumed name, or under a name other than that by which he is registered, or whoever personates another practitioner of a like or different name, shall, for each offence, be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. In a case in which a provision of this or the preceding section has been violated, the person who committed the violation shall not recover compensation for services rendered.

SECTION 9. The provisions of the eight preceding sections shall not be held to discriminate against any particular school or system of medicine, to prohibit medical or surgical service in a case of emergency, or to prohibit the domestic administration of family remedies. They shall not apply to a commissioned medical officer of the United States army, navy or marine hospital service in the performance of his official duty; to a physician or surgeon from another state who is a legal practitioner in the state in which he resides, when in actual consultation with a legal practitioner of this commonwealth; to a physician or surgeon residing in another state and legally qualified to practise therein, whose general practice extends into the border towns of this commonwealth, if such physician does not open an office or designate a place in such towns where he may meet patients or receive calls; to a physician authorized to practise medicine in another state, when he is called as the family physician to attend a person temporarily abiding in this commonwealth; nor to registered pharmacists in prescribing gratuitously, osteopaths, pharmacists, clairvoyants, or persons practising hypnotism, magnetic healing, mind cure, massage, Christian science or cosmopathic method of healing, if they do not violate any of the provisions of section eight.

COMMONWEALTH v. ST. PIERRE.

This is a case in which a person in Fall River was accused of practising medicine without registration. His professional sign was that of an "eye specialist." He was sentenced in the municipal court to three months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of five hundred dollars, the maximum penalty. The case was carried to the superior court, where sentence was sustained; but certain exceptions were taken by the defendant's counsel to the rulings of the court. The exceptions were finally disposed of in the following opinion of the supreme judicial court, rendered on the thirteenth day of December, 1899:—

LORING, J. The exception to the exclusion of testimony offered by the defendant on cross-examination must be sustained. The government had introduced in evidence testimony of a number of persons to the effect that they had visited the defendant at various times; that he gave to them medicines, and advised them how to use them; that at these times they had conversations with him about the nature of their complaints; that he afterwards visited some of them at their houses and treated them there, and that they paid him money, and the bottles and packages, which the witnesses testified were given to them, had been put in evidence.

The defendant offered to prove that "on each and every occasion at the time the parties were told by the defendant that he was not a doctor, and that he did not charge anything for his services." This evidence was excluded.

If the defendant sold the medicines, receiving payment therefor, and gave advice gratuitously as to the use to be made of them, he was not, so far as those instances were concerned, holding himself out as a physician; his declarations accompanying the acts and showing the character of them were admissible as part of the res gestæ.

Of course it was open to the government to contend that in these instances he was really acting as a physician, and was paid as such for his services, and that these statements were efforts to evade the statutory provisions here in question.

But when the Commonwealth put in testimony to the effect that he had given directions and advice as to the use of the contents of the packages and bottles sold by him, and had been paid by the persons to whom the contents were sold, it was the right of the defendant to prove that in each instance he was paid not for the advice but only for the drugs, and that he declared that he was not a physician; and in that way to raise the question whether, so far as these instances were concerned, he was selling the drugs and giving information gratuitously as to their use, and therefore not thereby holding himself out as a physician, or whether he was really acting as a physician, taking payment therefor, and was seeking by such declarations to evade the effect of his actions. This question was a question for the jury, under all circumstances, and the testimony offered should have been admitted.

As the questions involved in the other exceptions may arise in a new trial, they may be briefly disposed of here:—

2. The burden was on the defendant to show that he was a registered physician, if he relied on such a justification. Pub. Sts., c. 214, § 12; this applies in cases where the absence of a license is made part of a description of the offence. Commonwealth v. Kelly, 10 Cush. 69. Commonwealth v. Tuttle, 12 Cush. 502. Commonwealth v. Barnes, 138 Mass. 152. Commonwealth v. McCarthy, 141 Mass. 420.

3. Proof that the defendant acted either as a physician or surgeon was sufficient to support the complaint, which charged him with holding himself out as a physician and surgeon. There is but one offence, and that may be committed by the defendant's holding himself out as a physician or a surgeon; if the complaint charges that the offence is committed by the defendant's holding himself out both as a physician and surgeon, the whole offence is proved if he is shown to have held himself out as either. Commonwealth v. Dolan, 121 Mass. 374.

4. The ruling that, if the defendant held himself out as an eye specialist, he held himself out as "one who devoted himself to a branch of the healing art which is the profession of the physician and surgeon," and that "if the defendant held himself out as an eye specialist, he held himself out as a physician and surgeon within the meaning of the statute," was correct.

New trial ordered.

APPENDIX B.

OFFICIAL LIST OF PRACTITIONERS OF MEDICINE REGISTERED IN THE COMMONWEALTH TO THIS DATE, DEC. 31, 1901.

NOTE.—The following are the forms of certificates issued:—

Form A, to graduates of legally chartered medical colleges or universities having power to confer degrees in medicine, who applied for registration before the law went into full effect, on Jan. 1, 1895, graduation and residence in the Commonwealth at the time of the passage of the law being the only requirements for registration.

Form B, to those who applied for registration before Jan. 1, 1895, under the three years' practice clause in section 3 of chapter 458 of the Acts of 1894, three years' continuous practice in the Commonwealth next prior to the passage of the law June 7, 1894, being the only requirement for registration.

Form C, to graduates of legally chartered medical colleges in this Commonwealth who applied for registration subsequent to Jan. 1, 1895, and previous to May 1, 1896, during which period the law permitted their registration without an examination, a diploma from such sources being by the law considered satisfactory evidence of fitness to practise medicine. This provision of the law was repealed May 1, 1896.

Form D, to graduates examined by the Board.

Form E, to non-graduates examined by the Board.

Form F, to graduates of more than sixty years of age, who, prior to the passage of the law, had practised ten years in this Commonwealth, being exempt from an examination by an act approved April 1, 1896. This act is not now in force.

Certificates D and E are the only forms now in use.
